To airlines and airport operators, it is an enemy. When the white blanket hides runways, airplanes cannot take off or land. To clear the air of it, it is necessary to cause the water droplets to join together and fall to the earth. Many kinds of weapons against it have been tried. Special chemicals were blown up into the air, so that the water droplets attracted each other and fell as rain. Sometimes an airplane dropped crystals of dry ice into it. Then snow fell and the air cleared.

- ① 새 ② 안개 ③ 강풍
④ 폭설 ⑤ 테러

19. 다음 글에서 밑줄 친 Anything이 가리키는 바로 가장 적절한 것은?

When you travel overseas and come home, you usually have some foreign currency. But the small change in your wallet is seldom gathered together. Instead, it is usually dropped into somewhere and soon forgotten. So an organization called Change for Charity was founded to put some of that wasted money to use. This organization has placed a number of plastic boxes in airports. Returning travelers are invited to give their leftover foreign money in one of these boxes. It doesn't matter what kinds of currency you have—pounds, yens or euros. Anything you donate will be very helpful for the homeless and the poor.

others. When people agree with our behavior, we're happy. But if we don't get the approval we want, we feel miserable. This creates a major problem—others are now in control of our happiness. Worrying about what others think of us is a tough habit to break, but there can be tragic results if we don't break it. To take control of our lives and live fully, our challenge is to resist and overcome the desire to _____. Ultimately, we'll either have peace of mind or worry about what other people think. We can't do both.

- ① become rich ② get fame
③ have approval ④ go abroad
⑤ break appointments

26. Heart disease is more responsible for deaths than all forms of cancer combined. Nevertheless, people often don't realize they are having a heart attack. So many people don't pay due attention to the symptoms of heart disease. They consider the symptoms just as a sign of indigestion. The most common symptom is pain in the chest. "_____," can be the most dangerous words. When you have chest pains that you have not experienced before, it would be wise to see a doctor. If the symptoms last longer than just a few minutes, don't hesitate to call for an ambulance. [2점]

② It'll soon go away
③ No pains, no gains
④ Nobody can be cured
⑤ It's no use exercising

27. 다음 글의 Barnes를 묘사한 말로 가장 적절한 것은?

When Barnes said he would be a basketball player, he was laughed at because of his short height. But he decided to try. By the time he became a professional player, he was just five feet six inches tall, competing against players well over six feet. He competed successfully. He could even dunk the ball. Unfortunately, however, after a car accident Barnes could not move his body from the neck down. At first, he was terribly depressed. But, as time went by, strong will took over. He started to learn to paint with a brush in his mouth. He became an accomplished artist.

30. 다음 글을 쓴 목적으로 가장 적절한 것은? [1점]

Last night, I watched a TV program about pollution. It blamed cars or taxis for causing much pollution and suggested that the number of cars be restricted. Also, it said that the taxi fare should be raised to encourage people to take buses. I disagree strongly with these views. Buses are uncomfortable, so I prefer to drive. Surely, we should have the right to drive! How do other citizens feel? Surely they will agree with me.

- ① 반박 ② 칭찬 ③ 추천 ④ 동의 ⑤ 사과

31. 다음 글의 흐름으로 보아, 밑줄 친 부분 중 어법상 어색한 것은?

In 1893, U.S. President Grover Cleveland ①was informed that he had cancer. Surgery was done on Cleveland on his own yacht. Most of his upper left jaw ②was removed. The president insisted that the operation ③had been kept secret. He was afraid that worries about his health might make worse the difficult economic problems the country ④was facing at the time. Cleveland was fitted with an artificial jaw made of hard rubber, and no one ⑤seemed to notice the difference. The secret was not revealed until 1917.

It is said that in Paris one can recognize Americans two hundred yards away simply by watching them. To the French eyes, the behavior of Americans looks odd. "Americans bounce while walking" is their assessment. The French stand erect and square-shouldered, moving their arms while walking as if the space around them were limited. On the other hand, Americans seem to have a loose, easy manner of walking. They walk with free swinging arms and relaxed shoulders as if they were moving through a broad space scarcely limited by human or physical obstacles.

Differences in (A) between Americans and the French will show their (B).

- | | |

| ⑤ driving style | taste |

35. 다음 Judy에 대한 설명 중에서 글의 내용과 일치하지 않는 것은?

While Judy was at college, she became interested in the ideas of Henry D. Thoreau who didn't believe in violence. And she was to protest against the whites who treated black people unfairly. At that time when blacks rode the buses, they couldn't choose their seats. She was shocked whenever she saw blacks keep silent to this unfair treatment. She really wanted to change the situation. At the age of 30, with all the blacks in the city, she refused to ride the buses until all of them could ride with dignity. But she was absolutely against using any violence until her death.

36. 다음 글은 채식의 무엇에 관한 글인가?

Vegetarianism has been gaining popularity in a number of countries. What causes this trend? Some people give up meat because they believe it is bad for their health. And it makes sense, for it is true that fatty meats have been linked to many serious diseases like heart attacks or cancer. In other cases, it is considered as cruel to kill animals for meat when people have many other things to eat. Many vegetarians find it disgusting that people raise animals just to kill them. It can also be a valid reason to stop eating meat.

- ① 영향 ② 역사 ③ 이유 ④ 유형 ⑤ 문제점

37. 다음 글이 주는 분위기로 가장 알맞은 것은?

Tracie switched off the light, settled into her bed, and fell lightly asleep. After a while, Tracie woke up with a start to a sudden car horn. Through the window, she could see two bright beams shining just below the river's surface. She thought someone must be in the car, getting drowned. Tracie leapt from her bed and dashed toward the river. She ran as fast as she could the whole way. She jumped into the water. In the darkness she could see the driver and an infant below the rising water.

41. 다음 글의 요지로 가장 적절한 것은?

When you walk across the road, do you have to concentrate on every step? Or when you go to sleep, do you need to concentrate on your breath? You don't do any of these things with your conscious mind. You do them with your subconscious mind. We might say that the mind is like an iceberg. There is the part we see, the conscious, and the much larger part we don't see, the subconscious. It is sure that our subconscious mind is responsible for a large part of our behavior.

- ④ 감각기관들은 서로 밀접한 관계가 있다.
- ⑤ 대부분의 행동은 잠재의식에서 비롯된다.

42. 다음 글에서 필자가 주장하는 바로 가장 적절한 것은?

Advertisements for a global cigarette maker show an attractive professional woman who says, "I keep the rule of society, but at the same time I am honest with my own feelings. So I don't care if I behave against the so-called 'rules' as long as I really want to." These ads are targeting the vast market of millions of Asian teenage girls. Tobacco companies say their advertising is aimed at women over 18 years old who are already smokers. But it's a nonsense. The ads are intended for teenagers because that's where the market is. Such ads should be restricted right now.

- ⑤ A friend in need is a friend indeed.

44. 다음 글의 제목으로 가장 적절한 것은?

When someone asks you if dams do good to us, you will say, "Yes." You will add that they prevent flooding. Unfortunately, however, we are not fully aware of the consequences of what we are doing. Dams destroy ecosystems; dams prevent the movement of fish. Dams hold back silt which enriches the soil. Dams may be attacked by terrorists—an attack for a major dam could leave millions of people homeless. Dams also cause earthquakes: If relatively heavy water gets into the rock around the dam, all this weight actually leads to earthquakes.

* silt: 침적토

- ④ Dangers Caused by Dams
- ⑤ Difficulties in Building Dams

45. 다음 글의 주제로 가장 적절한 것은? [2점]

Though exam results are important for your future, they are not everything. Don't be discouraged. What you should do is to do your best next time. The following tips will help. First, you need to be in good physical shape. Eat properly and don't stay up too late. A refreshed brain works more efficiently than a tired one. So you need some exercise. More important than the quantity of study is the quality. Give it all your concentration. Don't let music or telephone calls disturb you. Read your notes. If there are things you need to learn by heart, try repeating them to yourself a few times, and then ask someone to test you.

- ① methods to concentrate

Recently Jack learned another way to take part in sports. He is on the basketball team of his school. His friends say that he is the best player.

On Tuesday, when they were practicing very hard for the big game next week, Jack suddenly slipped and couldn't move at all. He couldn't stand the pain and cried. Immediately he was taken to the hospital.

The doctor said, "Sorry, but you have your right foot broken. You have to stay here for some time." Jack said to him, "When can I start to play basketball again?" He answered, "Not until next month." Jack was very sad to hear the words. "Oh, no! I can't play in the next big game," Jack sobbed.

On Friday evening, all the members came to the hospital to cheer Jack up. Among them, there was a girl named Sue. She always looks happy when she practices basketball, but she usually sits on the bench during the games. She said just one thing to him with a smile, "Let's cheer our team on from the bench this time." There are some other members like her. When talking with them, Jack learned that playing the game wasn't the only way to enjoy basketball. He thinks he can enjoy cheering the team on with them during the next game.

(A)

One day when my son Max was two, I heard him shouting angrily and turned to see him kicking the cat. I yelled, "Stop it," and scolded him severely. After calming down, I realized why Max got so violent. Last week I got angry at the cat howling at my feet. When the cat caused me to stumble, I got very angry and kicked it away. Max was doing what he'd seen me do—kicking an animal.

(B)

My son, Benjamin left his belongings all over the house. One day after tripping over his sneakers and stepping on his toy truck, I really lost my temper. Later, cleaning the house, I saw shoes under the kitchen table and was about to yell again, when I recognized them as mine. Next I noticed my coffee cup on the bookshelf and my socks all over the floor. I had the habit of leaving things everywhere. I was getting angry at Benjamin over the things that reminded me of my bad habit.
