They're experts at hiding. These secretive animals spend almost their entire lives hidden under rocks or in holes. In addition, they are active only at night. 다음을 듣고, 물음에 답하시오.

M: Today, I'm going to talk about alternative energies. Alternative energies are considered clean and green energy because they're not based on fossil fuels. However, they have their own problems. Let's take a look at typical alternative energies that have problems. The first is solar energy. It is a completely renewable resource. However, the energy is very expensive, perhaps twice as much as traditional energy. Solar operations are also limited by the number of daylight hours. Moreover, there are serious environmental concerns. Many of the key parts in solar power systems are made using highly toxic chemicals. The second energy source is biofuels, such as bioethanol and biodiesel. Many countries are using these fuels. 105 billion liters of biofuels were produced just in 2010. But they have serious problems as well. Biofuels have a lower fuel efficiency than traditional fuels. For instance, biodiesel has about ten percent less energy than regular diesel. Besides that, biofuels are primarily made from crops like corn and sugarcane. Growing those crops can cause deforestation. Now, let's discuss it in small groups.
