W: Right. Look! I like that seal best!

M: You mean the round-shaped one?

W: No. I mean the cube-shaped one.

M: Let's go closer and look. Which one are you talking about?

M: Well, what's up with her?

W: You know, we met on the web last night. I mean, on the Photobook, the social networking site.

M: Oh, really? How is she doing?

W: She works as a web designer in New York. She said she would be here this weekend on business.

M: In your own bathroom, germs can build up over a short time. If you want to keep bathroom germs from spreading, you should know the basics. First, keep your different bathroom items separated. Keep your razors away from your toothbrushes. You don't want to be cleaning your teeth with toothpaste stained with shaving cream. Second, use proper bathroom cleansers for each area of your bathroom. These cleansers can kill bathroom germs effectively. Above all, the key to a clean bathroom is cleaning your bathroom on a regular basis. Regular cleaning will give you an overall sanitary environment.

W: Your neck? What's wrong with your neck?

M: When I woke up, I could hardly turn my neck. It really hurt!

W: That's because you have never exercised. You're always sitting in front of your computer.

M: Yeah. Now, I'd like to take care of myself.

W: You need to exercise regularly. Why don't you play tennis with me?

M: That sounds good. But I've never played tennis before.

W: I would be glad to teach you how to play.

M: Sounds good. I'll go and buy a racket right now.

W: Yeah, I think so. And I think that white plain shirt will also look good on you.

M: Then I'd like to buy both of them.

W: Let me see the prices... 30 dollars for the striped shirt and 20 dollars for the white one.

M: Attention, students! This is your president speaking. Our school bag donation project will start next Monday, and last until the end of June. During this period, your old school bags will be accepted in the library. This project is to help less fortunate students in Vietnam. The school year begins during the rainy season there. Kids who can't afford bags either just hold their books in their hands or place them in plastic bags. On their way to school, the students and their books easily get soaked. Old school bags you don't use any more are all they need. The collected bags will be sent to UNICEF, and they will hand them to the students in Vietnam. Thank you for your cooperation in advance.

W: The seats in Orchestra are closest to the stage. But there aren't enough seats available in Front or Rear Orchestra. We need 6 tickets.

M: That's a pity. What about Dress Circle? I heard it has a wonderful view and plenty of leg room.

W: But tickets in this section go over our budget. It should not go over 150 dollars per person.

M: I, myself, have never supported it. I have four dogs, three cats and two birds as pets.

W: You really love animals! I hope I haven't offended you.

M: Not actually, but I have a friend who is an animal trainer at a zoo. He told me that animals feel pain as much as humans do.

W: I think he is right. So we try to make the animals feel as comfortable as we can when we're running the tests.

M: Good to hear that. But I think there should be more efforts to find alternatives to animal testing.
