23. 빈 칸에 들어갈 말로 가장 적절한 것을 고르시오.

If you are not positive, you cannot be productive on your job. "Life is 90% attitude and 10% ability. It's all in your attitude, how you present yourself and what you have to offer," says Edward Simpson, a sales representative. "A company may be able to teach you what you need to know to succeed, but it cannot teach attitude. When choosing between a purely competent person without interest and a less competent person with zeal, I always choose _____," he adds.

- ① zeal over ability
- ② ability over attitude
- ③ competence over zeal
- ④ attitude over interest
- ⑤ success over competence

24. 빈 칸에 들어갈 말로 가장 적절한 것을 고르시오.

The pleasures of contact with the natural world are not reserved just for the artists. They are available to anyone who will place himself under the influence of a lonely mountain top or the stillness of a forest. I believe natural beauty has a necessary place in the spiritual development of any individual or any society. I believe that whenever we destroy beauty, or whenever we substitute something artificial for a natural feature of the earth, we have slowed down man's _____.

- ① scientific progress
- ② physical buildup
- ③ natural instinct
- ④ spiritual growth
- ⑤ hiking speed

25. We can see an object only when a light shines on it. The surface of a particular object will absorb some of this light's wavelengths and reflect others. The color we see is the color that is reflected. The leaves of a tree, for instance, appear green because all other wavelengths of the light hitting them are absorbed. The trunk of a tree appears brown because brown is the only wavelength which _____.

- ① hits the trunk
- ② is reflected
- ③ is absorbed
- ④ reflects the other colors
- ⑤ absorbs the other colors

26. 다음 글에서 밑줄 친 it was off 의 의미로 가장 적절한 것은?

A few weeks ago at a large movie theater I turned to my wife and said, "The picture is out of focus." "Be quiet," she answered. I obeyed. But a few minutes later I raised the point again, with growing impatience. "It will be all right in a minute," she said in a low voice not to disturb the audience around. I waited. It was just out of focus—not glaringly out, but out. So, after bothering my wife throughout the first part of the movie, I finally prevailed upon her to admit that it was off, and very annoying.

- ① 영화가 끝났다.
- ② 전기가 나갔다.
- ③ 초점이 안 맞았다.
- ④ 아내가 떠났다.
- ⑤ 서로 떨어져 앉았다.

Have you and your friend ever been to a museum together, looked at the same painting, and had different reactions to it? If the painting you looked at was a seascape, you may have liked it because the dark colors and enormous waves reminded you of the wonderful memories you had in your hometown. In contrast, your friend might have had a negative reaction and said that the same things brought fear to his mind as he remembered sailing on a rough sea during a violent storm.

→ Our _____ (A) _____ may influence how we interpret _____ (B) _____.

31. 다음 글이 묘사하고 있는 정경을 가장 잘 나타낸 것은?

Out in the backyard I am taking advantage of this beautiful morning. And I think nowhere have I seen skies as blue as those of my village. Looking upward, I can see skies splashed with cotton white clouds. The sun brightens the eastern side of the trees and casts their shadows to the west. A soft breeze gently rustles the tall clover blossoms, not disturbing the bees gathering nectar from them. A white butterfly flutters across the yard. Everything seems to be in harmony with one another.

- ① calm and peaceful
- ② funny and humorous
- ③ sad and gloomy
- ④ exciting and festive
- ⑤ noisy and busy

32. 다음 글에 나타난 필자의 주장으로 가장 적절한 것은?

Sometimes it may take a lifetime to make the world around you change. When you are young, it is easy to feel impatient and frustrated with the delays and seemingly stupid hitches that take place. However, if you are aware of local and global issues when you are young, your devotion to making the world a better place will continue. And who knows what you might achieve in fifty years? * hitch : a slight problem or difficulty

- ① First come, first served.
- ② Easier said than done.
- ③ No news is good news.
- ④ Ignorance is bliss.
- ⑤ Water will wear away stone.

33. 다음 글에서 과학 기술에 대하여 필자가 주장하는 것은?

In the twentieth century, there have been many advances in technology. Scientists have sent people out into space and even to the moon. Television, cars, and computers have changed our lives profoundly. New medical treatments have offered hope and even life itself to severely ill people. We have come a long way because of technology have created equally troubling ethical problems. These questions, for instance, should be asked: Should there be ethical limits to technological development? If so, how do we decide where to draw the line? And who should decide?

- ① 실용적 가치를 중시하자.
- ② 영상 문화를 보급하자.
- ③ 과학 인재를 양성하자.
- ④ 윤리적 측면을 고려하자.

⑤ 의료 기술을 발전시키자.

During the baseball game I missed an easy ball. This made me so embarrassed that I just stood there without knowing what to do. To my dismay, the other team scored three runs. After the game, the coach shouted at me, "You should never do that again!" I answered, hesitatingly, "I won't. I'll never miss such an easy ball again." "Miss?" he yelled. "You'll miss lots. That's not the problem. It's what you did after. While you were standing there, how many runs did the other team score?"

The sizes and shapes of coins are different in various countries, and the size and color of paper money also vary.

When we think of money, we usually think of currency, or coins and bills. ( ① ) In the modern world, almost every country uses coins and paper money to exchange for other objects of value. ( ② ) In India, for example, some coins have square sides. ( ③ ) In Japan, coins have holes in the center. ( ④ ) In the United States, all paper money is the same size and the same color; only the printing on the bills is different. ( ⑤ )

38. 다음 글에 나타난 Brigid Gill 의 심경으로 가장 적절한 것은?

Brigid Gill was alone in her cottage waiting for her little son to come from school. He was now an hour late. He was only nine and he was her only child. He was a wild boy, always getting into mischief. She kept telling herself that she would scold him when he came in. At the same time her heart was thumping and she started at every sound, rushing out to the door and looking down the winding road, which was now dim with the shadows of evening.

A few sorrowfuleyears ago, when I was back in Kansas, I gave a talk at my old college. It was open to the public, and afterward a very old man came up to me and asked me if my maiden name had been Wemyss. I said yes, thinking he might have known my father or my grandfather. But no. "When I was young," he said, "I once worked for your great-grandfather, Robert Wemyss, when he had the sheep ranch here." I think that was a moment when I realized all over again something of great importance to me. My long-ago families came from Scotland. My true roots were there.

In recent years, Colombia has not received much money from its exports. Its major export crop is coffee but the demand for coffee in the world has dropped. Also, other countries have begun to export more coffee, so the price has fallen. Finally, the Colombian government has encouraged the farmers to produce more food so that the country can become self-sufficient in food; as a result, the farmers have produced less coffee. Because of these factors, Colombia now gets much less cash from its coffee exports than it did ten years ago.

41. 다음 글 바로 앞 문단의 내용으로 가장 자연스러운 것은?

As you become a teenager, however, you may sometimes begin to question adults' ideas, instead of blindly accepting their ideas as you did when you were a small child. You gradually become aware that you are a unique person with your own ideas and attitudes. For example, you begin to make choices of your own about your lifestyle. To put it another way, you will find that you want to put your life together in the way that you think is best for you.

42. 다음 글 바로 뒤에 올 문단의 내용으로 가장 자연스러운 것은?

The term "law," as used in the phrases "a human law" and "a law of nature," has two different meanings. Human laws had been considered unchangeable in primitive times, but the Greek democracies made the discovery that a community could consciously make new laws or change old ones. This means that a human law is a set of rules that are valid only for a certain number of people over a certain period of time. The term "law" has a different meaning, however, when used to describe the regularities of nature.

43. 다음 글의 제목으로 가장 적절한 것은?

I can barely remember life without television. I have spent 20,000 hours of my life in front of television. Not all my contemporaries watched so much, but many did, and what's more, we watched the same programs and heard the same commercials. So our generation has a tremendous amount of experience in common. The TV programs have not affected all of us in an identical way. If a sociologist, however, would list some of the most important influences on our generation, television would top the list.

- ① Importance of TV Ads
- ② TV Programs and Ads
- ③ Our Generation and TV
- ④ TV and Social Problems
- ⑤ Diversity of TV Programs

44. Some people change their eating patterns to meet the needs of different situations. They have certain ideas about which foods will increase their athletic ability, help them lose weight, or put them in the mood for romance. For example, these people choose fruit and vegetables to give them strength for physical activity. They choose foods rich in fiber, such as bread and cereal for breakfast, and salads for lunch to prepare them for business appointments. For romantic dinners, however, they choose shrimp and lobster.

[1 점]

- ① the nutritional values of food
- ② the effect of food on strength
- ③ the differences in taste and attitude
- ④ the importance of vegetables and fruit
- ⑤ the selection of food for different situations

45. We have all grown up, knowing that people are different. They spend their money in different ways, while seeking different pleasures. A couple may spend their vacation traveling in Europe; their friends are content with two weeks in a cottage by the sea. A woman may save her household money to carpet her bedrooms; her neighbor may save hers to buy a second car. Different modes of consumer behavior—different ways of spending money—do not surprise us. We have been brought up to believe that such differences are what makes life interesting.

46. Crowding stresses us. The more crowded we feel, the more stressed we get. Work stresses us, too. Workers in manufacturing jobs are likely to suffer serious health problems as a result of the noise, or the stress of being paced by mechanical requirements of the assembly line. The amount of work involved, however, does not necessarily determine the level of stress. Air traffic controllers, for instance, report that the long stretches of doing relatively little are at least as stressful as the times when they are handling many aircraft in the sky.

- ① sources of stress                      ② benefits of stress
- ③ treatment of stress                  ④ effects of stress
- ⑤ prevention of stress

47. Don't wish your life away making impossible plans for your future. Grand plans are fun, but not really helpful if you can't achieve them. And don't let other people pressure you into trying to achieve things that you know are not possible. You'll only worry about achieving them, and that will trigger a whole host of new anxieties. Set yourself realistic goals, and aim to achieve them one step at a time. Remember that life is precious and you need to live in the present as well as hold on to your dreams for the future.

- ① 과거에 집착하지 말라.
- ② 원대한 꿈을 가져라.
- ③ 현재보다 미래를 더 중시하라.
- ④ 달성 가능한 목표를 추구하라.
- ⑤ 미래에 대하여 걱정하지 말라.

48. "Will mankind survive?" "Who knows?" The question I want to put is more searching: Who cares? It is clear that most of us today do not care. How many of us would be willing to give up some minor convenience in the hope that this might extend the life of man on earth by a hundred years? Suppose we knew with certainty that mankind could not survive a thousand years unless we gave up our wasteful diet of meat, abandoned all pleasure driving, and cut back on every use of energy. Would we care enough for our children to pay the price of their survival?

- ① 생활의 여유를 갖자.                      ② 자연의 생태를 배우자.
- ③ 후세를 위해 노력하자.                  ④ 인생을 풍요롭게 하자.
- ⑤ 여생을 위해 절약하자.

[49~50] 다음 글을 읽고 물음에 답하십시오.

In many countries, overcrowded cities face a major problem. This has been mainly caused by the drift of large numbers of people from the rural areas. These people have become dissatisfied with the traditional life of farming, and have come to the cities hoping for better work and pay. Unfortunately, however, poor conditions in the urban areas, such as lack of housing, worsening sanitation and unemployment, bring about an increase in poverty, disease and crime.

The only long-term solution is to make life in the rural areas more attractive, which would encourage people to stay there. This could be achieved by providing incentives for people to go and work in the villages. Facilities in the rural areas, such as transport, health, and education services, should be improved to foster a more positive attitude to rural life. The improvement of rural lives is doubly important, because the cities themselves cannot be developed without the prior development of the rural areas.
