22. According to ancient Roman law, if a person found treasure buried under his land, it became his property. However, if he found treasure in other person's land, the treasure had to be divided equally. Such an arrangement seems very fair. But the English did not follow Rome's example. In England, even today, any treasure that is accidentally found belongs to the government. But this applies only to what is _____. So, if an airplane happens to drop ten million dollars on an English person's roof, the money cannot be claimed by the government.

- ① found in the forest ② important in history
③ stored in the boxes ④ divided into two parts
⑤ buried under the ground

23. In fair weather, the air pressure is high. The air is still and often full of dust. Faraway objects may look unclear. But when a storm is near, the pressure drops and you can see things more clearly. So ancient sailors came up with a saying, "The farther the sight, the nearer the rain." Just before it rains, smells around us become stronger as the air pressure gets lower. You can also hear a storm coming. Sounds go up to heavy storm clouds and return to earth with increased force. In short, you can use _____ to make weather predictions.

- ① your senses ② old sayings
③ mass media ④ your emotions
⑤ animals' behaviors

24. Your child doesn't like vegetables? Have him plant them in your garden. In a recent study, young kids become more willing to eat vegetables when they plant, weed, water and harvest a small area themselves. It seems that gardening lets children make a connection between what they eat and where it comes from. And this connection may make the kids more likely to think _____.

- ① nature is wonderful
② growing plants is easy
③ vegetables are good to eat
④ gardening is a good hobby
⑤ a garden can be a living museum

25. You can guess the meaning of unknown words by using other information in the context. You can get a general idea of the meaning without the help of a dictionary. It is often good enough. However, sometimes a paragraph contains new words that are so important that you need to know their exact meanings. When such an unfamiliar word appears several times in the same paragraph, then you should probably _____.

- ① speak it loudly
② avoid using the word
③ read between the lines
④ return to the first page
⑤ look it up in the dictionary

26. Hawks have suffered from people's war against insects. Small animals eat the insects that have been sprayed with chemicals. Then these are eaten by larger animals. The chemicals stay in the body of the animals. When the hawks have eaten a number of these animals, the chemicals have a deadly effect. Hawks begin to lay eggs with very thin shells. _____, the eggs break easily when hawks try to sit on them to keep them warm, and few baby hawks come out of the eggs.

(A)

The elephant, for example, can use its ears as effective fans to slap annoying flies. African elephants live where keeping cool is not an easy task. But their huge ears help them cool their bodies so they can survive in the heat. The large surface of the ears has many blood vessels. Blood that is closer to the surface cools more easily.

*blood vessel: 혈관

(B)

African elephants have the biggest ears in the world. They can grow as large as three-and-a-half feet across. You might think such a big animal wouldn't have much to worry about, but it has its problems, too. And its huge ears help it deal with the problems.

(C)

The most impressive use of the ears, though, is seen in an elephant's threat display. When trying to threaten another animal, the elephant makes a loud sound with both ears spread wide. This makes the huge beast look almost twice as large as it really is. Few enemies would dare to stand up to this gigantic animal.

I would like to tell you about my friend, Sam. He's a real lifesaver! I'm not in very good health, and it's hard for me to do things around the house. Sam helps me a lot.

He brings the mail to me in the morning. He brings my cell phone when it rings. He puts dirty clothes into the washing machine for me and takes the clean clothes out when washing is finished. He follows me everywhere I go and is always by my side when we go out. He always wags his tail and seems so happy.

Before I had Sam, I was too afraid to go out because I thought I might fall down, but Sam helps me keep my balance. If I drop my keys or purse, he'll pick them up for me, and I know that if I do become ill, he will start barking to get someone's attention.

I meet lots of people when I'm out with Sam: kids come over and stroke him, or adults start a conversation by saying what a great pet he is. I used to be so lonely, but now I'm not. I don't know what I'd do without Sam. He's my real companion.

49. 윗글의 Sam에 대한 설명으로 글의 내용과 일치하는 것은?

- ① He can't see clearly at night.
 ② He doesn't like to make a phone call.
 ③ He is afraid of meeting other people.
 ④ He helps people when car accidents happen.
 ⑤ He fills and empties the washing machine.

50. 다음은 윗글의 Sam에 관해 필자가 쓴 시이다. 윗글의 내용에 비추어 빈칸에 들어갈 말로 가장 적절한 것은?

*Sam's my friend,
 My loyal best friend,
 My pride and joy
 Until the end.
 He's so clever,
 And I'll never forget*

- ① The wonderful helper ② The joyful doctor
 ③ The loving father ④ The wealthy neighbor
 ⑤ The kind driver
