This is an ancient game. No one knows exactly where it first came from, but the earliest form of it is probably shaturanga, which was invented in India sometime before 600 A.D. by an Indian philosopher. The philosopher was supposedly asked by a cruel raja, or king, to find a way to end war. To make the philosopher think harder, the king gave him a month and told him he would be killed if he failed. The philosopher nodded and came back to his house. All day long he sat in the sun carving pieces of wood into one figure after another. At the end of a month, he returned to the king with a board game where kings and armies could fight without killing anyone. The king was delighted with the game and told the philosopher he could have anything he wanted.

24. According to psychologists, _____ occurs in two stages. In the first stage, you stop blaming the person who hurt or wronged you. This does not mean that you cease to hold the person responsible for his or her actions; instead you recognize the human flaws that led the person to injure you. If you are able to complete the first stage, you can choose to move on to the second stage: acceptance and restoration of the relationship. The second stage requires you to accept the other person's apology for their wrongdoing and resolve to offer your trust and friendship again.

- ④ consciousness ⑤ regretfulness

25. There are crabs to be found in the Inland Sea of Japan with curious markings on their backs, patterns and indentations that disturbingly resemble the face of a samurai. How does it come about that the face of a warrior is incised on the back of a crab? The answer seems to be that humans caused the results. The patterns on the crab's shell are inherited. But among crabs, there are many different hereditary lines. By chance, among the distant ancestors of this crab, one arose with a pattern that resembled a human face. And fishermen may have been reluctant to eat such a crab. Say, they threw it back. The more a crab looks like a samurai, the better are its chances of survival. As many generations passed, there came to be a great many samurai crabs. This process is called _____.

27. The mark of a painter historically has been the ability to accurately represent the world on canvas. Portraits were judged by their likeness to the subject or their likeness to what the subject would look like without certain flaw. Landscapes were admired for capturing the Earth's natural beauty in paint, and the aim was to accurately portray depth with seemingly three-dimensional images. The more lifelike the piece, the greater was its acclaim. Early in the twentieth century, however, an innovative movement developed in which the work of painters _____. Unlike their predecessors, the painters influenced by Expressionism were interested in capturing emotional reactions through using arbitrary yet powerful colors and compositions. Vivid colors were utilized in a seemingly rash way, and the overall effect was remarkable. The object was not to depict objective reality but rather to express the artist's subjective experience of it. [3점]

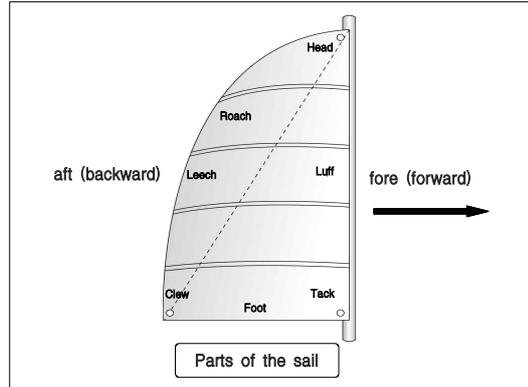

- ① was expressed realistically
- ② was well-organized and objective
- ③ became personalized and subjective
- ④ was focused on accuracy and reality
- ⑤ was represented in a more objective way

A nurse had a fractured pelvis because of an automobile accident. A few days later her lungs seemed to fill up; her urine stopped; her heart developed dangerous rhythm disturbances. So there she was in coma, on a breathing machine, her heartbeat maintained with an electrical device. One day, with a deep sigh, her husband told me that his wife was obviously going to die; she was a nurse and had told her family that she never wanted this kind of terrible death, being maintained by machines. At this, I told him that there was nothing intrinsically lethal about her situation. Soon, within a few days, the patient's pacemaker could be removed, and she awoke from her coma at last! About six months later I was in my office. The door opened and the husband with a big smile walked in, followed by a gloriously fit woman. *pelvis: 골반 뼈 urine 소변

32. For thousands of years, people have looked up at the night sky and looked at the moon. They wondered what the moon was made of. They wanted to know how big it was and how far away it was. One of the most interesting questions was “Where did the moon come from?” Today most scientists believe that the moon formed from the Earth. They think that a large object hit the Earth early in its history. Perhaps the object was as big as Mars. When the object hit the Earth, huge pieces of the Earth broke off. These pieces went into orbit around the Earth. After a brief time, the pieces came together and formed the moon.

- ① the orbit of the moon
- ② the formation of the moon
- ③ the components of the moon
- ④ the damage of meteor impact
- ⑤ the creation of the planetary system

33. Not all chance discoveries are made in laboratories. Some occur in the most unlikely places. While walking through a Paris street, Dr. René Laennec observed some children at play. He noticed one child cupping his ear on an old wooden plank. Another child at the other end of the plank was tapping a message to him on the wood. Laennec had had trouble that very morning trying to hear the heartbeat of one of his fat patients. In the children’s game he at once recognized the principle of the stethoscope. Laennec rushed home and built the first crude stethoscope from a slender, hollow wooden tube. Then he hurried back to the hospital to try it on his patient. It worked. He was able to listen to his heartbeat.

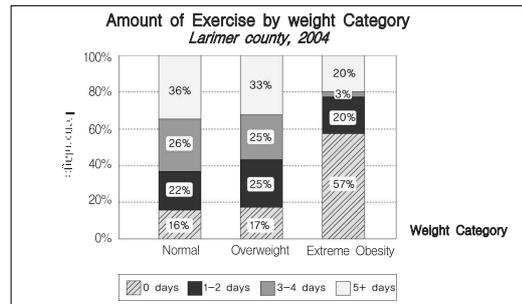

- ① the principle of the stethoscope
- ② the development of the stethoscope
- ③ the outstanding experiment of Laennec
- ④ the way to hear the heartbeat of a patient
- ⑤ the unexpected discovery outside a laboratory

You might be surprised or astonished at the amount of data kept on you. Do you know where this data is filed or stored? Some may be stored in file cabinets. But most of it is probably stored in computers. As it is, the results of inaccurate data could be serious. It might keep you from being admitted to the school of your choice. It also may cause you to be denied credit card. It may damage your reputation. Hence you must be aware laws permit you to examine data most agencies keep on you. They permit you to challenge information that is not correct. You may be allowed to correct any data that is not accurate. This includes data exchanged and kept by most agencies. Obviously, having data kept on you is a fact of life. Being a responsible citizen, however, you’ll want to be sure the data is accurate. Make sure that data is current.

 - ④ The situation of the overweight category was almost like that of the normal.
 - ⑤ On the other hand, about 60% of the extreme obesity category didn't exercise a single day in a week.
- Generally, the higher a respondent’s weight, the less she/he exercised.

36. The Library of Alexandria에 관한 다음 글의 내용과 일치하는 것은?

Alexander's former boyhood friend and bodyguard created a new empire in Egypt and ruled it as Ptolemy I Soter. Because of his passion for learning, he established a library, either in or near his new palace. The first books he included were the works of Alexander's old teacher, the scientist Aristotle. In Ptolemy I Soter's time, libraries were usually only private collections of a few manuscripts in the homes of the wealthy or assorted religious texts kept at temples. Ptolemy II Philadelphus took over the Library of Alexandria and collected a copy of every one of the world's books. Each was translated into Greek, including the modern Christian Bible which survived because of its translation during this period.

37. Thomas Paine에 관한 다음 글의 내용과 일치하지 않는 것은?

Thomas Paine was one of the great fiery voices of the American Revolution. Paine emigrated from England to Philadelphia in 1774. Two years later he published Common Sense, a popular pamphlet that argued for complete American independence from Britain. Later that year in his pamphlet The American Crisis he penned his famous line, "These are the times that try men's souls." After the revolution won, Paine returned to England in 1787, and in 1791 he published The Rights of Man, which opposed the idea of monarchy and defended the French Revolution. To escape being tried for treason, he fled to Paris, where he wrote The Age of Reason. In 1802 he returned to America, only to find himself outcast and poverty-stricken in his final years.

38. Charities frequently make their appeals for money. Contributions received from these appeals are necessary to support the work of most of these charities. Most of these appeals are legal and for worthy causes. The Better Business Bureau(BBB) warns, however, that some of the appeals may be illegal. This could mean that the money you contribute may not serve the cause for which you thought you gave it. Beth Swain, who works for BBB, says, "I believe more than 95 percent of the appeals are legal. But, the con artists are a real problem. Con artists are people who attempt to swindle money illegally. They say they are collecting the money for a good cause, but they plan to keep the money for themselves." Ms. Swain adds, "We don't want this warning to discourage people from responding to deserving and legal appeals." Our advice is 'Give, but give wisely.' 'Know what you are contributing to and where your money is going.'

39. DNA evidence has long proved its usefulness in incriminating in criminal cases. But individuals will be unlikely to offer samples of their genetic codes if law enforcement officials do not destroy the evidence as promptly as possible or return it to innocent persons. DNA swabs are different from fingerprints, which can only be used for identification. DNA provides information about family relationships, physical attributes, tendency toward certain diseases, and ancestry. Therefore the use of DNA in criminal cases will always have to balance the individual's right to privacy, and to protection from illegal search and seizure, with the state's interest in identifying criminals. To maintain this equilibrium, police will have to be straightforward about their use of evidence.

Others are more direct ways, with people who claim to speak to ghosts and write down their thoughts.

Among all the things in the world that frighten people, ghosts are among the scariest. But how do you prove whether or not ghosts really exist? (①) Many people have tried over the years, but sometimes the ways of looking for ghosts have been just a way to cheat people. (②) Some most common ways are using some kinds of tools to contact the spirit world. (③) For example, one or more people put their fingers on a board and are directed to a yes/no answer or individual letters that spell out a message. (④) Scientists claim that this type of message is just a trick of our brains, which have deep thoughts about what we want the board to say. (⑤) These people are said to channel the ideas of the dead, and some, with no talent in music or writing, have been seen to write music, poems or novels in the style of long-dead famous people.

41. Boxing is definitely a brutal and violent sport; nonetheless, many women are still willing to climb into the ring. Some of them participate because of the financial rewards. Not only do female boxers make money for each fight, but the most successful of them also earn money for endorsing commercial products. Other women, like female boxer Laila Ali, are more interested in becoming famous and want to be as well-known as celebrities. Still others thirst for respect and equality. They want to prove that women, far from the weaker sex, can be as tough as men. And some simply like the excitement of participating in the sport. Angiyou, mother of five, turned around. Looking behind her into the darkness, at first she thought that to be Steve, who was wearing a parka to overcome the -30°C cold. But a meter behind the boy was a 350-kilogram polar bear standing on the icy road. Steve turned and saw it, too, then ran, screaming, to his mother. At that time, Angiyou felt a rush of blood to her brain. Although tiny and normally quiet and timid, her maternal instincts flared; suddenly she felt more imposing than her 45-kilogram, 152-centimeter frame would suggest. "Get as far away as you can!", she shouted at him as she ran towards the bear. She stopped just short of it, then faced it quietly. And she moved with the bear to maintain her position blocking her son.

How to live longer is a topic that has fascinated mankind for centuries. Today, scientists are beginning to separate the facts from the fallacies surrounding the aging process. Why is it that some people reach a ripe old age and others do not? Some researchers divide the factors determining who will live longer into two categories. Several elements influencing longevity are set at birth. Gender, race and heredity can't be reversed. For example, women live longer than men — at birth, their life expectancy is about seven to eight years more. But surprisingly, many others are elements that can be changed. For instance, smoking, drinking and reckless driving could shorten people's lives.

Some researchers suggests that _____ (A) _____ and _____ (B) _____ factors could influence people's life expectancy.

(A)

James Kell is nineteen years old. He grew up in Melbourne, Australia. He had a good life there and was always a happy child. But when he was thirteen, he (a) became very rebellious. He argued with his parents and refused to go to bed when they said. Sometimes, he came home late or even stayed out all night. He (b) never did what they told him to do.

(B)

Gradually, his grades improved, and two years later, he passed into college. He is doing well and hopes to become an aircraft engineer. "It's not trendy, but it's a job I really want to do," he explains. Now, James doesn't seem to feel guilty about his behavior when he was younger. "I didn't know I (c) was irresponsible. I just wanted to belong to a group and to get respect from others," he says. "When I think back to what I was like, I realize I took my parents for granted. But I was just looking for an identity," he adds.

(C)

But the problems didn't stop there. James started to get into trouble at school for fighting. His grades suffered and he failed his exams. At sixteen, things became so bad that James's parents decided to take him out of school. His mother taught him at home. He couldn't see his friends or go out of the house alone. For two years, James (d) was like a prisoner, kept under strict control. "I felt really bad at the time. I thought they hated me. But now, I know they were trying to help me," says James.

(D)

Then, when he was fifteen, one day he (e) came home with his hair dyed yellow and a ring through his nose. "I was in a gang. We all had to do the same thing... so, we would stand out, I guess - be unique," he explains. "I didn't think it was that serious, but my parents went crazy - especially my dad. He was mad for weeks."

시그널 OUT

ANN : 이제 시작하겠습니다.

1번입니다. 대화를 듣고, 여자가 구입하려고 하는 운동 기구를 고르세요. [1점]

M : How can I help you, ma'am?
W : Any good exercise equipment to lose my belly?
M : We've got a variety of choices. How about this exercise bike? You can listen to music while you're on the pedal.
W : I've used it before. It was not so effective.
M : Then, how about this bench press? This will probably help you.
W : It's not one of my favorite.
M : Then, how about this kind of exercise machine? You can walk or jog. At the same time you can listen to music.
W : I like it. How much does it cost?
M : Seven hundred ninety dollars. By the way, we have the latest model. Look this way. It's possible to watch TV while you are walking or jogging.
W : I want to buy it, but it's too expensive. I'll buy the running machine with a headset.

2번입니다. 대화를 듣고, 마지막 부분에 나타난 남자의 심정으로 가장 적절한 것을 고르세요.

W : What's wrong, Frank? You look worried.
M : You'd be worried too if you knew what happened.

W : What happened?
M : It's the new office boy who started last week. He's disappeared.
W : That's nothing to get upset about. Office boys have a tendency to disappear.
M : That's not the only problem. The money in the safe disappeared, too. Who else could have taken it?
W : Oh, sorry. I forgot to tell you. Actually, I took the money. I put it in the bank this morning.
M : Phew! I guess I misunderstood.
W : I guess you did, Frank.

3번입니다. 다음을 듣고, 무엇에 관한 설명인지 고르세요.

M : This has become a very important part of our lives. This has not only made our lives more convenient, but also changed dramatically the way we live. Before we had this, it was hard to reach a friend far away from home. But thanks to this small device, people can now get in touch with anyone, at any place, and at any time, walking around and talking on this. People can also use this to play games, watch television, listen to music, take a picture, pay money online, and find information.

4번입니다. 대화를 듣고, 남자가 이번 주말에 할 일을 고르세요.

M : What are you going to do this weekend?
W : My husband and I are going to repaint the kitchen.
M : How come? Didn't you move into a new house?
W : Yes, but the paint has chipped off where the table touches the wall. And we are going to have a housewarming party next weekend.
M : Well, you're certainly going to be busy!
W : I suppose so. How about you? What are you planning to do for the weekend?
M : We are going to throw a birthday party on Saturday for our son and his friends. So, I am going to help my wife with some chores around the house in the morning.
W : You're such a good husband!

5번입니다. 대화를 듣고, 여자가 지불해야 할 금액을 고르세요.

(Telephone rings)
M : Hello, Montena Club. May I help you?
W : Hello, I'd like to ask some questions about this weekend.
M : Sure.
W : Are there any live music shows this weekend?
M : Yes, we have an Italian Jazz singer. He's performing on Friday at seven, and Saturday at ten.
W : How much is the show?

M : It's 30 dollars per person.
 W : Oh, that's a little expensive, I think.
 M : But, if you have a membership card, you can get a 10% discount up to two people.
 W : Oh, OK, I have a membership card. I'd like to reserve two tickets for Saturday night.
 M : Okay. Is there anything else I can do for you?
 W : No, thanks.

6번입니다. 다음을 듣고, 남자가 하는 말의 목적으로 가장 적절한 것을 고르세요.

M : May I have your attention, please? Harry Clifford's flight from Washington has been delayed by three hours. As he is the specialist in education, we can't start any meaningful discussion without him. So, inevitably we will have to postpone this meeting. His flight is expected to arrive around 11:30. And it will take him about two and a half hours to get here from the airport and have lunch. So, let's get together here at 2:30 p.m. I'm sorry to announce such a disturbing news. Thank you for your attention.

7번입니다. 대화를 듣고, 남자가 무릎을 다친 이유를 고르세요.

W : What happened to your knee? Did you fall down?
 M : It's a long story. I was in an accident last week.
 W : What accident? Why didn't you tell me?
 M : I'll tell you now. I was driving back home, and suddenly something hit my car. I couldn't see what it was because it was too dark, but I just remember it was something huge.
 W : Oh my gosh! Did an ambulance come?
 M : I don't know, I must have fainted. All I remember is that I found myself lying on the floor of my bedroom when I woke up.
 W : Your bedroom floor? And not in the hospital?
 M : Turns out that I had been dreaming, and fell off my bed.
 W : That is so funny, so it was all a dream?
 M : Exactly true.

8번입니다. 대화를 듣고, 두 사람의 관계를 가장 잘 나타낸 것을 고르세요.

W : Would you like a glass of water?
 M : Thanks a lot. Look at this tree. What do you think need to be done?
 W : I think the dead tree branches need to be removed.
 M : You're right. Those are not good for the tree. And removing them keeps the tree look much better.
 W : When is the best time to trim trees?
 M : It's either fall or early spring before trees start to grow.

W : I see. By the way, do I have to water these plants?
 M : No, you don't have to. They look good now. Too much water can be as bad for those plants as not enough.
 W : Anything else you have to do today?
 M : I'm going to cut these branches, and trim those flowering trees 6 inches or so. Is it okay?
 W : Suit yourself. But remember safety first.
 M : Thanks, ma'am. I'll be careful.

9번입니다. 대화를 듣고, 두 사람이 대화하고 있는 장소로 가장 적절한 곳을 고르세요.

W : Welcome. How can I help you?
 M : I made a reservation under the name Steven Johnson.
 W : Wait a second [pause]... I found it. You're going to keep it for four days, from November 11th to 14th, right?
 M : Correct. Can I ask you something? What happens if I return my car a little late?
 W : In case you go over time, you'd have to pay 10 dollars per hour.
 M : Do I need to fill it up before returning it?
 W : It's more economical for you to do so. Our rates are higher than those of gas stations.
 M : Is there any extra charge if I drop the car off at another location, such as the Washington Airport?
 W : No. You can drop it off at any of our branches.

10번입니다. 대화를 듣고, 여자가 할 일로 가장 적절한 것을 고르세요.

M : Good morning, Susan. How are you?
 W : Not so good, today.
 M : What's up? Any problem? You look really tired.
 W : Actually, I stayed up until 4 o'clock this morning.
 M : What kept you up so late? Did you have something to do last night?
 W : No, I just couldn't get to sleep. It's been several nights already.
 M : Why don't you take a shower before going to bed?
 W : I tried, but that didn't seem to work. Probably I need to take some sleeping pills.
 M : I think you'd better go see a doctor first.
 W : Okay. I'll give it a try before I get knocked out.

11번입니다. 다음의 주차 신청서를 보면서 대화를 듣고, 대화의 내용과 일치하지 않는 것을 고르세요.

[Telephone rings.]
 W : Hello. Hankook Parking Service.
 M : Hi, I'm calling to get a parking permit. Is there any parking lot available?

W : Yes, there is. What's your name, please?
 M : Jeremy Curtis.
 W : May I have your phone number please?
 M : Yeah, my phone number is 2455-8654.
 W : Okay. What's the year and make of your car?
 M : 2007 white KC motors convertible.
 W : Okay. Parking fee will be $120 for a semester or $220 for a year.
 M : I need it for a year.
 W : All right. When we receive your money, we'll send you a parking permit.
 M : Great. Thank you very much.

12번입니다. 다음을 듣고, 여자가 조언하는 내용과 일치하지 않는 것을 고르세요.

W : Here are some tips for winter fashions. Dress in layers rather than one heavy coat. This way, you can add or subtract layers as the temperature changes. You lose 40% of your body heat through your head. So, please wear a hat. To keep your feet warm, wear lined winter boots or hiking boots over warm socks. Be sure that your footwear isn't too tight as this will make your toes much colder. One of the best ways to keep warm is to keep moving. If you are cold, walk more quickly and swing your arms.

13번입니다. 다음 그림의 상황에 가장 적절한 대화를 고르세요.

- ① W : What's the warranty on this product?
 M : One year. If you have any problem with our product within a year, we will repair it free of charge.
- ② W : You should be more careful when you push a cart.
 M : I'm trying to be careful, but the sidewalk is so narrow.
- ③ W : What's the best way to tell whether it's ripe or not?
 M : Squeeze it a little, and if it's not too hard, then it's ripe enough.
- ④ W : We should buy some toys for kids.
 M : How about this one? It's their favorite.
- ⑤ W : Can I have one more glass of orange juice?
 M : No, you can't. You've already had three.

14번입니다. 대화를 듣고, 여자의 마지막 말에 대한 남자의 응답으로 가장 적절한 것을 고르세요.

M : Look at this, sweetie. I can't believe it!
 W : What's the matter?
 M : This bill. It can't possibly be correct.
 W : What bill?
 M : Your phone bill. It says we owe them one hundred thousand won.

W : What? One hundred thousand won? That's too much.
 M : That's what I'm saying now. Isn't that because you became a phone addict?
 W : Dad, I don't think so. As you know, I've never paid more than thirty thousand won before.
 M : Then, why do you think it happened?
 W : Oh, I remember. I phoned Yumi in Brazil a few times last month.
 Sorry, Dad. I'll be careful next time.
 M : _____

15번입니다. 대화를 듣고, 남자의 마지막 말에 대한 여자의 응답으로 가장 적절한 것을 고르세요.

M : Can I borrow your alarm clock, Susie? I've got to get up at six tomorrow morning.
 W : Why so early?
 M : I'm going to the Festival Hall to get tickets for the opera.
 W : Opera? I didn't know you are interested in opera.
 M : Oh, yes. The Metropolitan Opera Company is coming the month after next.
 W : But isn't it too early to get tickets at that time of the morning?
 M : Yes, but the Met is very famous. I'll probably have to wait in line.
 W : Yes, I suppose you will. Anyway, here's the alarm clock.
 M : Thanks. How do I set it?
 W : _____

16번입니다. 대화를 듣고, 여자의 마지막 말에 대한 남자의 응답으로 가장 적절한 것을 고르세요.

M : Hi, Kate, did you have a good time at the club last night?
 W : Yeah, it was pretty wild.
 M : What did you think of our band?
 W : Well, your music was great for dancing, but to tell you the truth, it was kind of too loud. I guess I really prefer jazz.
 M : Do you go to jazz shows much?
 W : No, not very often. I can't afford it. They're so expensive here!
 M : So, what do you like to do for fun?
 W : Well, I love to eat! And there are so many interesting ethnic restaurants around here!
 M : What's your favorite kind of food?
 W : Well, Italian, of course. How about you?
 M : _____

17번입니다. 다음 상황 설명을 듣고, Tom이 Susan에게 할 말로 가장 적절한 것을 고르세요. [3점]

Tom borrowed a hammer from Susan a few days ago. After using the hammer to do some work in his garage, he left it on the ground. The next morning he drove out of the garage, and mistakenly ran over something. He got out of the car and checked to see what had happened. He found the hammer he borrowed from Susan broken into two pieces. So, he explained to Susan about the accident, and promised to get her a new hammer. But she didn't care about getting a new hammer because it wasn't expensive while Tom wants to get her one. In this situation, what would Tom most likely say to Susan?

Tom : Susan, _____
